Description

What exactly do you mean by "hidden"?
Do you mean another conversation is in progress, or any other situation than the active conversation is shown.

In my case, the option was enabled, i was talking to ONE person, switched the screen off, got a message, no vibration.
Next step was to turn the sound on, no vibration.
I sent beem to the background, sound yes, no vibration.

I think we have made a big error in translation ... really sorry about that.
The option is actually to disable the vibration on notification. So to enable it the option must not be checked (contrary to the english text).
